Sy Schulman History Award – 2016 Awardees

BMSHS's Alex Vastola & Michael Feist

In 2014 the Westchester County Historical Society (WCHS) inaugurated an award to honor the life and work of WCHS trustee Sy Schulman, who died in 2012. Schulman had a significant role in shaping the Westchester we know today as the county's chief planner and planning commissioner in the 1960s. Through his life he championed the cause of preserving and promoting the history of the county. The award is given annually to individual/s or organization/s that have demonstrated a strong commitment to historical research, historic preservation, and/or the teaching of local history, and have, as a result, elevated the public's appreciation of the history of Westchester County.

Alexander S. Vastola, Museum of the City of New York intern, and Michael E. Feist, Wikipedian, both of the BMSHS, brilliantly talented, young men who love history and have done exceptional work, will be among an outstanding group of four, including Brother Harry M. Dunkak, Ph.D., C.F.C., Emeritus Professor History at Iona College and Gloria P. Pritts, Village Historian, Village of Mamaroneck, who will receive this prestigious award. As a group they represent young, enthusiastic people in the history field as well as seasoned Westchesterites who have "toiled in the fields" for years and years. Friends of the Old Croton Aqueduct and the Untermeyer Gardens Conservancy in Yonkers were the first recipients of this coveted award.

Sunday, June 12, 2:30 PM the awards will be given at the 142nd Annual Meeting of the WCHS, which will be held at the Woolworth Chapel at Woodlawn Cemetery. We don't think it could be possible to be more proud of them than we are! Hurray for Michael and Alex!!

Letter from the Briarcliff Manor-Scarborough Historical Society President

This is our Late Spring Newsletter, although summer seems to be here. It is a bit late but we have been amazingly busy. Just recall...

- The month-long exhibition of historical maps with related contemporary pictures on the library's second floor
- Hundreds of historic maps that were salvaged from the shredder and are being processed
- Annual Meeting with Jean Zimmerman – The Women of the House – the story of the Philipse family as told with emphasis on the women
- Michael Molinelli's two intriguing programs on architecture in Westchester
- The history of the preservation movement of New York City given by Prof. Anthony Wood
- "Who Is This?" mystery series, which gradually revealed the face of Lt. John Kelvin Koelsch, Medal of Honor recipient, who, it will be our privilege to honor with a plaque in Law Park on Veterans Day, November 11
- A large, new closet has been built for us and is almost ready to store our archives

And we have interacted with visitors and supporters, including Walter Law's great great grandson, Michael Law Franchot, from Atlanta, and Judge William Whitson Groff, great great grandson of Richard Whitson, from New Hampshire. They became aware of us through our website and planned a visit.

Please keep your eyes open for further activities and opportunities. There will be many you will not want to miss! And, of course, none of these accomplishments or future plans would be possible without your continued support. We look forward to your being a 2016 member. Please send your dues in the enclosed envelope, if you haven't already done so. We wholeheartedly encourage you to join us as Caretakers of Our Heritage.

Sincerely,

Karen

Walter W. Law's Maxims for Living or "Dalmeny Mottoes"

The patriarch was Walter William Law, center, (Kidderminster, England b. 11-13-1837 d. 1-18-1924). His wife was Georgina Ransom Law, left. There were three sons: Walter W. Law, Jr.; Arthur Ransom Law (who died in infancy); and Henry Herbert Law. Georgie (nee Law) Ransom Penman was the first daughter; Carolyn "Patty" (nee Law) Adela Fotherall, second; Edith Bird (nee Law) Brockelman, third; and Martha Janet (nee Law) Macy Kerr, fourth daughter.

Walter Law, as a boy and as a man, used to write thoughts and ideas to live by in a pocket-sized notebook. Early in the 1900s some of them were printed in a little blue booklet called "Dalmeny Mottoes." The word "Dalmeny" comes from the name of the estate of the Earl of Rosebery, Scotland, near Edinburgh, close to where Law grew up and a place he visited often. "He liked the name Dalmeny so gave it to one of the earliest-named roads," reported Mr. Alfred Pearson, an early recorder of Briarcliff history. A large, three-story boarding house/dormitory was built by Mr. Law on Dalmeny Road for some of his agriculture workers. The building was towards the southern end where Dalmeny turns into Scarborough Road. Law had some of these mottoes printed and "posted" to remind his men of his philosophy.

Which one is your favorite?

Law's Laws

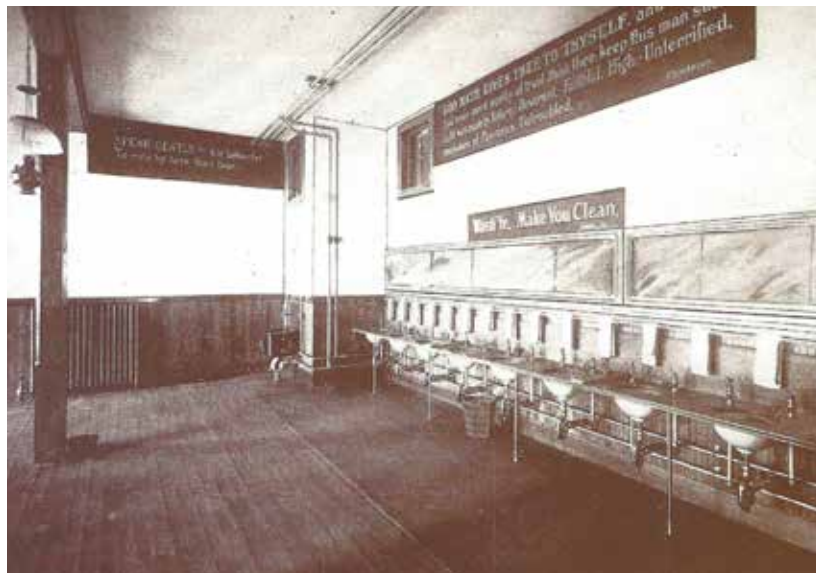

- If a man disappoints me once, it is my misfortune. If he disappoints me twice, it is my fault!
- No one could tell me where my soul might be: I searched for God, but God eluded me. I sought my brother, and I found all three.
- I slept and dreamed that life was beauty. I walked, and found that life was duty.
- He that knows not, and knows not that he knows not, is a fool – shun him.
- He that knows, and knows not that he knows, is asleep – wake him.
- He that knows, and knows that he knows, is wise – follow him.
- Never worry over the things you cannot help, worry rather over those you can overcome.
- A man must be greater than the difficulty, not the difficulty greater than the man.
- What the world hungers for is achievement.
- If you set your target in the skies you will shoot higher than if you set it in a bus.
- Were I so tall to reach the clouds, Or grasp the ocean in my span, I must be measured by my soul: The mind's the standard of the man.
- Wash ye, Make you Clean.
- That man is in heaven now, whose character is in harmony with God. —Rev. Alex. MacColl.
- God hath given thee to thyself and saith, "I have none more worthy of trust than thee; keep this man such as he was made by Nature, Reverent, Faithful, High, Unterrified, Unshaken of Passion, Untroubled."
- "If a Cobbler by trade, I'll make it my pride the best of all Cobblers to be; and if only a Tinker, no Tinker on earth shall mend an old kettle like me."

Men's three-story dormitory on Dalmeny Road.

Rob Yasinsac says Law's father gave Walter this motto when he was 8-9 years old.

- A soft answer turneth away wrath.
- He is wise who talks but little.
- Speak gently – it is better far to rule by love, than fear.
- How poor are they that have not patience.
- An ounce of help is worth a pound of pity.
- To be without evil thoughts is God's best gift.
- Courage profits a man nought if God denies His aid.
- Doing good is the only certainly happy action of a man's life.
- They are never alone who are accompanied with noble thoughts.
- Seek to find your happiness in limitation of your desires, not in the gratification of them.
- Some have meat but cannot eat, And some have none, and want it; But I have meat and I can eat, And so the Lord be thanked.
- "It is God that girdeth me with strength and maketh my way perfect." – David
- A wise son maketh a glad father, but a foolish son is a heaviness to his mother.
- The fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom.
- The earth is crammed with Heaven, and every common bush afire with flames of God. But only he who sees takes off his shoes.
- I will either find a way or make one.
- Either complete, or do not attempt.
- "Whoever strives after the perfect, strives after the Divine, for the Divine is perfect." – Micheal Angelo (sic)
- If ought good thou canst not say, of thy brother, foe or friend, take thou then the silent way, lest in word thou may'st offend.
- Whoever you are be noble, whatever you do do well, whenever you speak speak kindly, bring joy wherever you dwell.
- "The greatest thing in life is energy with a noble purpose; once fixed, then victory." – Goethe
- He is never alone who is accompanied by noble thoughts.
- "Nay, falter not, 'tis an assured good to seek the noblest. 'Tis your only good when you have seen it, or this higher vision poisons all meaner choice forevermore." (Law's friend, Andrew Carnegie said this was his favorite motto. Mr. Carnegie said of Law, "Mr. Law owns his money, it does not own him." Outlook Magazine, May 16, 1908, p. 107.)
- Nothing is good enough if it can be bettered.
- The aids to noble life are within thee.
- The world hungers for achievement. I will either find a way or make one!

Washroom in Dalmeny Road Dormitory

And his pastor for ten years, Rev. Alexander MacColl, said of him on his 70th birthday, "He has a genius for achievement and has been laying the foundation of a community which will live long after him and bear the stamp of his own spirit." Hear, hear.....

Lt. John Kelvin Koelsch

A few years ago the Briarcliff Manor-Scarborough Historical Society became aware of a serious omission with respect to Lt. John Kelvin Koelsch. Lt. Koelsch was the recipient of the country's highest military honor, the Congressional Medal of Honor, awarded to him posthumously by President Eisenhower. Although he is honored by Westchester County in Lasdon Park in Katonah as well as at the Town of Mount Pleasant offices in Valhalla, his valor has been practically unknown and unmentioned in his hometown, the Village of Briarcliff Manor.

BMSHS member, Barry Bosak, sought information and documentation about Lt. Koelsch's life in Briarcliff Manor and his service record from a living aunt in Texas, Princeton University ROTC and a judgeicut who was a fellow classmate, Class of 1945.

We scoured our archives. Among the Communiques, a monthly publication compiled by local Briarcliff people during WWII and sent to people in the armed forces, Lt. Koelsch's name is first mentioned in July 1943 and continues monthly until the last issue of September 1945. (Incidentally, he had two brothers who were also in the war at the same time!)

We campaigned for a memorial for him in Law Park, along with the other veterans. We succeeded and a patriotic ceremony will take place on Veteran's Day, November 11, 2016 to unveil a plaque noting his heroism. Lt. Koelsch went on to fly helicopters in the Korean War, where he died in 1951 in a prison camp – displaying "conspicuous gallantry" to the end. He was 28 years old.

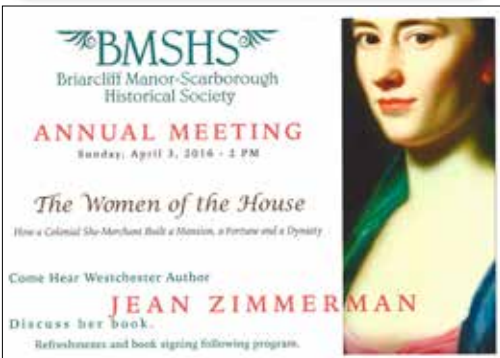

We invite you to join us in November to honor Lt. John Kelvin Koelsch.

Briarcliff Manor-Scarborough History You Should Know

Mrs. Dow's School: A Brief History

at the top of Elm Road, bordered by Tuttle Road

Mrs. Dow's School for Girls, original building

In 1903, wishing to expand his vision for Briarcliff Manor, Walter W. Law enticed a friend away from Miss Porter's School to start a top finishing school for girls in Briarcliff Manor. Mary Elizabeth Dunning had been a student at Miss Porter's School in Farmington, Connecticut. In 1884 Miss Porter hired her former student, with whom she began to share more of her duties as head of school. From then until her death in 1900, Miss Porter gradually relinquished her control of the school to Mrs. Dow.

A conflict between Mrs. Dow and Miss Porter's nephew developed after she died and escalated. In 1903 her friend, Walter Law, prevailed upon Mrs. Dow to start a school in Briarcliff Manor. She quickly accepted and brought 16 faculty and 140 students of Miss Porter's to town to start what we know as Mrs. Dow's School. The school began at the Briarcliff Lodge in 1903; two years later, Walter Law gave Mrs. Dow 35 acres at the top of Elm Road and built the large, beautiful red brick, chateausque building, whose architect was Harold Van Buren Magonigle. The 82,000 sq. ft building initially contained state of the art classrooms, library, gymnasium, and an infirmary as well as dorm rooms. Mr. Magonigle is known primarily for his designs of monuments like the Fireman's Memorial in Riverside Park, and the National Maine Monument at Columbus Circle, both in Manhattan. However, it is a historically important building not only as one of the few buildings designed by this famous architect, but also as one of the last Gilded Age buildings in the village.

Mrs. Dow's School was the "Grand Dame" of several exclusive private schools in the village. Although it started as a "finishing" school for young women, in 1919 it began to offer college preparatory courses. The school continued to expand its college level courses and in 1933 became Briarcliff Junior College. In 1952 the Army Map Service selected it as the only college in the country to provide professional training in cartography. The name was changed to Briarcliff College in 1957 when it had a 4-year program. But Briarcliff College was caught up in the social upheaval of the 1960s and 1970s and suffered declining enrollments. In 1977 the all-girls college was limping and was purchased by Pace College, now Pace University. Now Pace has decided to sell the Briarcliff campus, and the future of Dow Hall is in play.

The Briarcliff Manor-Scarborough Historical Society possesses two charming, valuable scrapbooks lovingly put together with dance cards & dried roses. We have a large collection of photographs of events and classes. We can also see in the background of photos when what we know as Tuttle Road was vacant and there were very few other buildings nearby.

*Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Dow,
Head Mistress, 1903-1919*

This imposing building and the history it represents are important parts of the fabric of this village. Mrs. Dow's School helped "put Briarcliff Manor on the map." Doubtless, it added to our reputation as a community with an intense interest and support of education.

The Board of the Briarcliff Manor-Scarborough Historical Society can only advocate and educate. We think it would be a terrible shame if this important part of our village were destroyed when this property changes hands. We are endeavoring to help people of the village know its rich history and value. We don't want it to be gone "overnight" and then despair that we hadn't helped people understand its value. We encourage you to find your way to the top of Elm Road, request permission to enter from the security person, and drive into the campus just to see the beautiful red brick Mrs. Dow's School from the outside. Its future in our village is unknown. Stay tuned as news develops and remember our motto and mission
